

THE SENECA NATION IS CURRENTLY ACCEPTING LETTERS OF INTENT FOR THOSE INTERESTED IN SERVING ON THE FOLLOWING,

TRIBAL HOME VISITING ADVISORY COMMITTEE

What is the Tribal Home Visiting Program?

The Tribal Home Visiting Program at Seneca Arts and Learning Center provides family-centered, culturally relevant support for expecting parents and families with young children (pregnancy through age five). This program is a family support initiative designed to strengthen the well-being of young children and their families, which provides in-home services that promote positive parenting, enhance child development, and connect families to essential community resources. By offering culturally relevant, evidence-based support, the program helps parents navigate early childhood challenges, improve family stability, and create nurturing home environments. The Advisory Committee plays a crucial role in ensuring the program remains effective, responsive to community needs, and aligned with the values of the Seneca Nation and the Seneca Arts and Learning Center.

What does the Advisory Committee do?

The Committee will:

- ✓ Provide recommendations on program policies, procedures, and culturally relevant practices.
- ✓ Support outreach, family engagement, and service coordination efforts to ensure families receive comprehensive support.
- ✓ Review program data and outcomes to guide decision-making and continuous improvement.
- ✓ Advise on funding opportunities and strategies for long-term sustainability.
- ✓ Foster collaboration across Nation departments to enhance family services and maximize support for caregivers.

Who can join the Advisory Committee?

We are looking for individuals with experience and knowledge in early childhood development, family services, social work, health services, or related fields. Ideal committee members should have a passion for supporting families, the ability to provide meaningful input, and a willingness to collaborate to strengthen home visiting services within the community. All applicants must pass a Seneca Nation background check.
