Mission Statement

To prepare today's students to enter the workplace with the knowledge and training they need to be successful in business and to take part fully in our community and society.

The Historical Mission of the College

When Jamestown Business College was founded in 1886, its charter called for the "establishment of a school designed to qualify young men and women for office requirements at low cost to those whose inclinations and ambitions lead them to business pursuits." The college's mission remains fundamentally the same today.
