Short Films with Terry Jones

Terry J. Jones
(Seneca – wolf clan)

Terry Jones is a Seneca filmmaker who resides in Newtown on the Cattaraugus Territory. Terry likes to share Haudenosaunee culture and stories through his collaborative film works.

His films tackle important issues such as Native identity in the modern world, residual effects of colonization, historical trauma and Indian residential boarding schools.

Terry has utilized many Haudenosaunee community members as featured actors in his films.

Tuesday, November 22, 2016
5:00pm

Seneca Nation Library
Cattaraugus Branch
3 Thomas Indian School Drive
Irving, NY 14081
(716) 532-9449

FILM PROGRAM

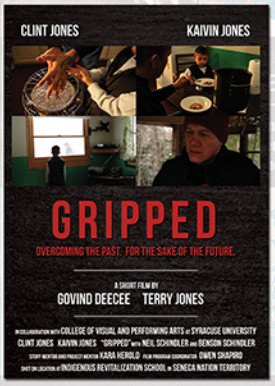
Give and Take

2015 – 14 min.

Soup For My Brother

2015 – 10 min.

Gripped



2015 – 7 min.

GIVE AND TAKE - A short film by Terry Jones, Govind Deecee & Erin Perkins
"A linguistic anthropologist meets a Haudenosaunee trickster in the forest."
Filmed at Onondaga Nation Territory. Features Awenheeyoh Powless (Onondaga).

SOUP FOR MY BROTHER - A short documentary by Terry Jones
"This short doc is about brotherly love, tradition and loss."
Filmed at Seneca Nation Territory. Features James C. Jones (Seneca - turtle clan).

GRIPPED - A short film by Terry Jones and Govind Deecee
"A father must overcome fear for the sake of his son."
Filmed at Seneca Nation Territory. Features community member Clint Jones, Kaivin Jones, Neil Schindler and Benson Schindler.